

An introduction to an essay on King Salman

My pen trembles with pride as I start writing in an expression about King Salman, Custodian of the Two Holy Mosques, and I listen to him talking about the wonderful man and distinguished leader in terms of skill and achievement.

We believed the words of our Sheikh Abu al-Tayyib when he said: King Salman faced all the challenges he faced during the recent period with a vision that transcends its borders to get out of the framework of the present into a promising future, despite the difficult time that the world went through, King Salman faced it with firmness and determination, and His Majesty worked on a set a variety of important reforms in all areas including the economy, society and development; Causing an unprecedented boom in Saudi Arabia, ensuring women's full access to work, education, leadership opportunities, and participation in the development of Saudi society.

Also, through his tireless sponsorship of the Kingdom's Vision 2030, he worked to develop the non-oil economy sector in line with his future vision, and King Salman also helped bring about a major change in the economic future of the nation. His Majesty's vision calls for solving the problem of depleting oil in the world by developing alternative sources of energy. Great respect for young people, improving their living conditions and providing them with job opportunities; This caused an unprecedented boom in Saudi Arabia.

The Custodian of the Two Holy Mosques also gave the child a large part of his attention as he attended his education through the growth of schools, the enhancement of facilities and the effectiveness of the teaching staff.
